the level of customization under the old environment was often limited to cosmetic niceties, navigation aids, etc., but

I was unconscious until I was 21 until that summer in 1967 I had been unconsciously living out the myths of my native culture.

Planet of the apes - A@12
By Psycho-Cybernetic @ 16

Up to that day, I had read exactly 2 books in my life. well... two books that I read because I wanted to read them, not out of absolute academic necessity
I struggled through my textbook in elementary & HS like everyone else.

13, 210

the idea of reading a book that I didn't have to read, simply never occurred to me.
I watched TV.

~~ideas of~~ epistemological ideas seldom invaded my brain

I don't remember any circumstances surrounding the reading of those two books beyond the fact that I was about 10-12 when I read "Apes".
The ending shocked me deeply.

(It was quite completely different ending than the Heston Movie...)

but equally shocking

13, 24,

I read Psycho when
a few years later
before I ~~got~~ my driver's lic.

Also, sometime in HS I was required to read Catcher in

It too was great fun and thought-provoking but still the idea that books could be a source of profound ideas didn't sink in.

I spent two years in Jr. Coll.

there

my earliest ~~no~~ memory is ..

- i am standing in a darkened room next to a door that is just cracked open enough to see the roomful of adult in the living room talking.

wondering to myself.

"What are they doing"

I don't know how old I was.

considering reincarnation

i was thinking about various circumstances under which i'd like to embody

~~my lives learned~~

maybe i've learned the lessons of this domain

maybe i'll be off to some entirely different domain

- some n-dimensional space then i realized how if i was raised into that environment, raised by beings who believed they understood their place in reality, i probably would take me new miraculous reality as normal

13.33°

I may come to believe that it is "normal" just like I did here on Earth for ~~so~~ many years.

I was taught that this reality is not miraculous/exhilarating/ectotic
-there was a part of me that didn't believe it... that knew that the big ones were ~~deceitful~~ liars
I learned to keep my mouth shut

- lately, I've had an opportunity to consider my mortality
- now, I don't believe in reincarnation

13,33'

but, it is an interesting idea and not unproductive to explore.
i was considering various circumstances under which i'd like to be embodied in future... type of parents, nationality, sex, wealth, culture, etc.

then it dawned on me... what a limited concept i was stuck in
? (who/what) do i think (i/^{am}/is)
(do/does)

maybe i'm stuck here
maybe i'll be off to some miraculously new dimension of existence some ecstatic multidimensional space.

The Evil One?

President Bush is referring to Osama bin Laden as the Evil One. He portrays the situation as one of good vs. evil, but he is wrong.

President Bush says that bin Laden is evil because he ruthlessly murdered ⁶⁰⁰⁰ innocent civilians. Senators + rep proclaim their outrage at the wanton taking of innocent lives.

All Americans have such short memories. Harry Truman ordered the death of more than 100,000 innocent men, women and children in Hiroshima, Nagasaki... in order to win the war, save American lives and preserve our way of life.

Osama's act is provoked by the same situation.

he believes that Islam is threatened with extinction by the influence of western culture and capitalism and he is right...
